MEMO TO THE PRESS AND RADIO-TV SPORTSCASTERS:

A cordial "Howdy" from College Park where the undersigned has landed after being born within 10 miles of Byrd Stadium some half-century ago. It's a real thrill to be associated with Maryland after a life-time of sports association within the area and I will go "all out" to fulfill your every request for information throughout the year.

The University of Maryland will be host at five games at College Park this Fall and a sixth — at Richmond, Virginia — on October 5 when the Terps will be home team against Duke in the annual Tobacco Festival Classic. We hope that as many of you as possible will be with us on these occasions although the press box at Richmond will not be quite as spacious as the one in Byrd Stadium.

I'm sure that most of you are acquainted with our two-tier press box (with roof space for photographers) and of the routine services provided — play-by-play, half-time stats, final "quickies", team and individual statistics, coaches' comments and complete lineups. Once again we shall be fortunate in having Mel Shilling and his statistical crew from Baltimore who render those accurate figures so quickly when speed is of the essence.

This office has a supply of individual pictures available for your use. Primary news outlets will receive an assortment as the season starts, and in no case will duplicates be sent to different outlets of the same town. Applications for press box accommodations should be made at least a week before the game. Wire and telephone requirements should be made through your local Western Union office.

The latest stats will be mailed each Sunday throughout the season with regular releases being issued no less than semi-weekly. Spot news, of course, will be disseminated as it occurs. Should you desire other information I will be available at the telephones listed below.

Thank you for your past interest and your anticipated cooperation in the future.

COLLEGE PARK CAMPUS

THE UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

For more than 155 years the University of Maryland has been one of the leading schools of the nation. And as each year goes by the university continues to grow in size, stature, and prominence.

Today the University of Maryland has nine colleges and seven schools which offer an outstanding variety of education to more than 40,000 students who attend its classes on four continents. The university now ranks as the thirteenth largest university in the United States with full-time undergraduate enrollment at College Park approaching 19,000 students.

On the sprawling 1,100-acre College Park campus there are more than 80 main buildings constructed in the brick Georgian-Colonial style. About 15,500 students attend classes on the College Park campus. Thirty-five miles away in Baltimore another 1,500 students attend the five professional schools (medicine, dentistry, nursing, pharmacy, and law). About 500 foreign students go to school on the College Park and Baltimore campuses.

The oldest division of the university is the College of Agriculture which was founded in 1856. In that year the state legislature created the Maryland Agricultural College on 428 acres of land purchased from the Charles Calvert estate eight miles northeast of Washington, D.C. There at College Park the first classes were held in October, 1859.

At Thanksgiving, 1912, fire destroyed the two main buildings and gave Marylanders a chance to re-plan and expand the college. In 1916 the institution was re-named the Maryland State College of Agriculture. In 1920 the college merged with the University of Maryland (then located at Baltimore) and the two campuses became known as the University of Maryland.

As the years passed the university steadily erected new buildings, created new educational branches, and installed almost every known modern teaching device.

One of the most advanced sections of the university is the science and technology portion of the College Park campus where students delve into agriculture, chemistry, physics, biology, and engineering. With the aid of famed airplane manufacturer Glenn L. Martin, the modern College of Engineering's four structures were built.

The Theodore McKeldin Library, which dominates the west end of the university's College Park mall, has space enough to shelve more than a million books, pamphlets, and research materials.

The Cole Activities Building, located near Byrd Stadium, was completed in 1955 and is one of the finest examples of American engineering and architecture. The huge indoor amphitheater seats more than 15,000 people for athletic, social, and educational events. The Cole auditorium is the second largest auditorium in the eastern part of the nation.

Jutting high above all other campus buildings is the Memorial Chapel. The structure actually is composed of three chapels—one for general Christian services, one especially for Roman Catholics, and one for non-Christians. The main chapel seats 1,350 persons. To the rear of it is a smaller chapel which seats 122 people. The tiny Roman Catholic chapel is designed to seat 44 people. Associated with the Memorial Chapel are chaplains of almost every major religious denomination.

Every hour from the steeple of the chapel the strains of "My Maryland" chime across the campus. Flemish and English carillon-type bells hang in the steeple to furnish the hourly chimes and special seasonal refrains.

DR. WILSON H. ELKINS

PRESIDENT, UNIVERSITY OF MARYLAND

Dr. Wilson Homer Elkins assumed the presidency of the University of Maryland on September 1, 1954. His formal inauguration as the twenty-first head of the institution took place on January 20, 1955.

He has brought to the University of Maryland an outstanding professional record of proven leadership in educational administration, and an unusual background of high scholastic achievement and demonstrated athletic ability during his undergraduate and graduate career.

At Maryland, he has stressed the obligation of the state to provide a quality education for all Maryland youth who demonstrate their capacity to learn. On the subject of sports, he has said that values and attitudes developed in activities outside of the classroom, including football, are important elements of a liberal education.

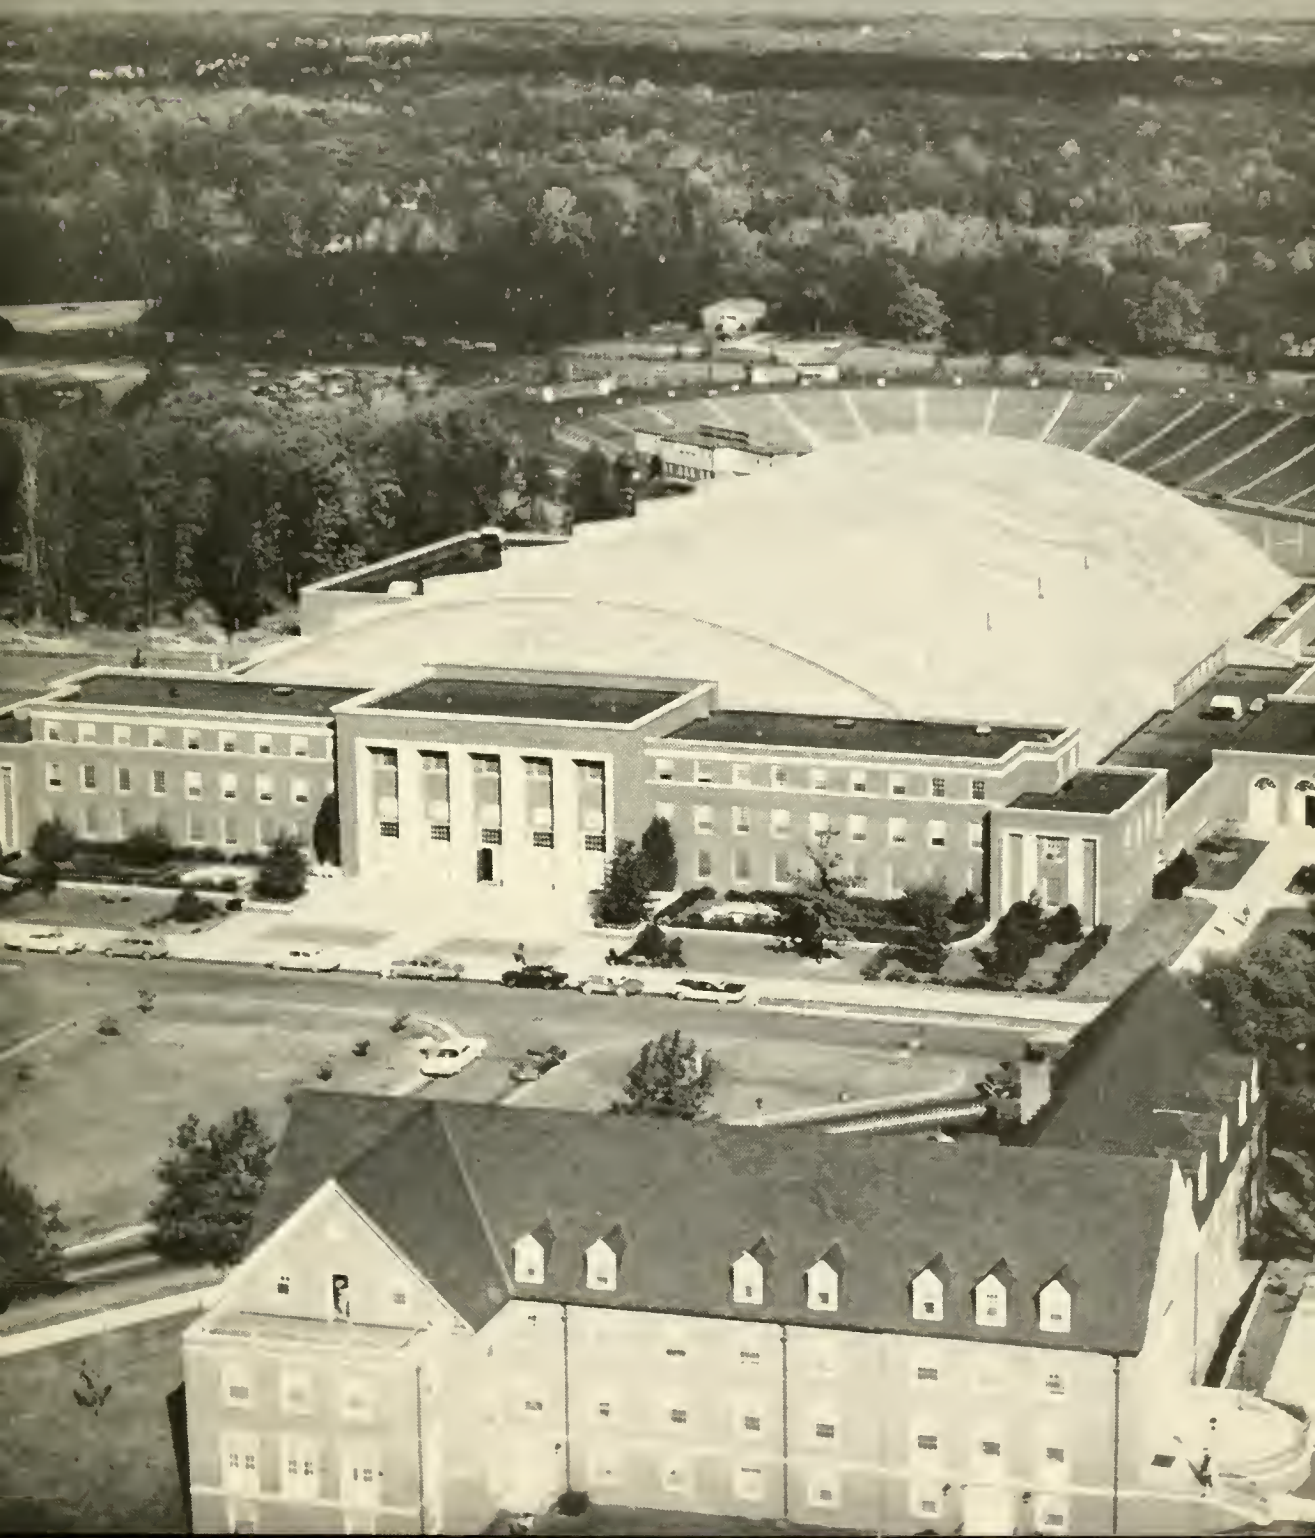

Dr. Elkins is a native Texan. He was a Rhodes Scholar from 1933 to 1936. He received the B. Litt. and D. Phil. degrees from Oxford University, England, in 1936. He received his undergraduate education at the University of Texas from 1928 to 1932. At Texas he earned eight varsity letters in football, basketball and track. He was elected president of the Student Association and captain of the basketball team in his senior year. He is a member of Phi Beta Kappa and of Omicron Delta Kappa. He was graduated from the University of Texas in 1932 with B.A. and M.A. degrees.

Dr. Elkins began his professional career in education as an instructor in history at the University of Texas in 1936. He held two presidencies prior to assuming this office at the University of Maryland. From 1938 to 1949, he was President of San Angelo Junior College, San Angelo, Texas; and he was president of Texas Western College, a branch of the University of Texas, from 1949 to 1954.

In 1937, Dr. Elkins was married to the former Dorothy Blackburn of Berclair, Tex. They have two daughters, Carole Ann and Margaret Elise.

WILLIAM W. COBEY

DIRECTOR OF ATHLETICS

Bill Cobey starts his eighth year as Director of Athletics in directing the vast Maryland athletic program. One of the most popular and most outstanding men in his field, Cobey directs his every effort to give the Terrapins one of the finest programs in the country.

During the seven years he has headed the program, Cobey has seen the Terrapins dominate the Atlantic Coast Conference championships in the twelve recognized conference championship sports.

Prior to his appointment in February of 1956, Cobey was Graduate Manager of Athletics for nine years. It was he who administered and handled the overall athletic program.

Long devotion to the University wasn't new to the affable Cobey. He came to the Athletic Department after having served 17 years as Cashier of the University.

The Cobey name is not new, even to old-time University graduates. Bill's father, W. W. Cobey, was a 1901 graduate and a letterman in track and manager of the baseball team. He became a famous agricultural scientist and while in Florida, was one of the pioneers in the discovery of leaf tobacco. Cobey also had two uncles graduate from the University.

Bill, as he is known to the many friends he has made around home and throughout the athletic fraternity, came to Maryland in the fall of 1926 following graduation from Fort Myers, Fla. High School. Born and raised in Quincy, still his native home, Cobey attended Quincy schools through eleventh grade before the family moved to Fort Myers.

After playing freshman lacrosse, Cobey had to cast aside any athletic team participation in order that he might get a job to help him through school. This employment was in the Cashier's office where he worked until his graduation in 1930. He belonged to the Kappa Alpha Fraternity while an undergraduate.

Following graduation, he returned to Quincy, Fla., and worked with his uncle on a truck farm. He returned to the University to accept the job as Cashier of the University. It was this job he held for 17 years, until 1948 when he accepted the position of Graduate Manager of Athletics. Then came the appointment as Director of Athletics, February 1, 1956.

Cobey is active in community affairs: a past president of University Park PTA; councilman for University Park two years, past president of the University branch of the Maryland Classified Employee's Assn., and is active in the College Park Rotary Club.

Cobey married the former Mary Gray' Munroe, also of Quincy, Fla., in 1935. They have six children, three daughters and three sons. Mary Patricia and Julia Ann are graduates of the University, while Betty is a Junior. William is a graduate of Emory Medical School, Elwood is in the twelfth grade while the youngest of the family, Munroe, is in the sixth grade.

The Cobey's are members of the University Methodist Church, College Park.

TOM NUGENT

HEAD FOOTBALL COACH

Tom Nugent leads three lives. It's a task that takes some doing — like stretching a normal day beyond its allotted 24-hour span. For several years now, Tom has found himself in demand as (1) head football coach at Maryland, (2) a public speaker who could be on a rostrum every night or as a featured instructor at any coaching clinic and (3) a father of nine.

It's difficult to state at which he is the most successful. His 24-16 record in four years at Maryland stamps him as a winning coach, while the requests to speak which his secretary is compelled to decline for sheer lack of time attest to his popularity before all kinds of public gatherings. Confidentially, he'd rather visit campus fraternity houses and small student gatherings for pow-wows with the undergraduates than address hundreds of unknown listeners in civic audiences. Certainly as the dad of five boys and four girls he could qualify as an all-America father.

Nugent's been at College Park for four seasons now and has yet to come up with a loser. After a break-even (5-5) start in 1959, it's been 6-4, 7-3 and 6-4 . . . this, despite such opposition as Syracuse, Penn State, Duke, Texas and Clemson.

Tom came to Maryland from Florida State where he raised football from the pick-up game he found it in 1947 to a 7-3 record his last year in 1958. Tennessee, Miami and Florida all bowed before Nugent's Seminoles that year. In 1954 he started the Florida State football clinic: when he left, four years later, it was attracting nearly 1,000 coaches from all over the country. Previously, Nugent had coached at Virginia Military Institute with whose Keydets he won a Southern Conference championship and once defeated Georgia Tech. His 10-year record before coming to Maryland was 53-45-3. It's now 77-61-3.

Here at College Park Tom's turned in some notable victories. During his first year he guided Terp teams to triumphs over both Clemson and North Carolina who finished 1-2 in the ACC in '59. The following year Maryland's only two defeats in the conference again came at the hands of the two top teams, Duke and N.C. State. In 1961 Nugent piloted the Terps to a third-place finish for the third successive year, only a 16-28 upset by Virginia in the season's final keeping his team out of a bowl. That team produced Nugent's best record (7-3) at Maryland — a record which included wins over both of Maryland's major rivals, Syracuse and Penn State. The latter subsequently became Gator Bowl champion by defeating Georgia Tech. Last year it was 6-4 with three of the four losses coming by four points or less. Little wonder, then, that Old Line followers are confident their school will continue to rank among the country's top teams for many years to come.

The imaginative Nugent already has stimulated his colleagues in the coaching fraternity with such innovations as the "I" formation, the typewriter huddle and the double quarterback. This year he will drop the right end of his line, playing his fifth back, the wingback, at that position. Nugent's other backs are tabbed upback and swingback in addition to the orthodox quarter and tail backs.

Nugent was born in Lawrence, Mass., and graduated from Ithaca College in 1936. His charming wife, the former Peg Foley, is probably his staunchest supporter and fan, and hasn't missed seeing one of his teams play in years. She's always with him on road trips leaving John Michael, 5; Jerry, 7; Mary Ann, 8, and Timmy, 8 under the care of their teenagers Patty 13; T. D., 15; Peggy, 17, Kerry, 19, and Tommy, 20.

ASSISTANT COACHES

BILL "WHITEY" DOVELL

This 1953 graduate from the School of Physical Education, Recreation, and Health, is starting his tenth year as a member of the Terp coaching staff. Dovell has been a line coach since 1955 after serving three years as freshman coach.

When coach Tom Nugent came to Maryland in 1959, he retained the popular Dovell as a member of his staff.

Following graduation, the former Terp guard was appointed freshman coach and also assisted the varsity and scouted future Terp opponents. As freshman coach, he led the Terp yearlings to three winning seasons, highlighted by the 1955 undefeated team. The big game was the final one of the season. It was the much publicized "international" grid attraction between the Terp frosh and Mexico Polytechnic Institute. Playing across the border in Mexico City, Dovell's team won 26-13.

Dovell is a tireless worker. Along with his coaching duties, he handles the film library for the staff. Those in the coaching fraternity compliment Dovell as one of its finest young members, and know him to have a fine football mind.

He married the former Clair Benson. They have three daughters.

LEE CORSO

Until someone comes along in future years, the name of Lee Corso will continue to head the list as the all-time quarterback at his Florida State alma mater. And it was under the coaching hand of Tom Nugent that Corso helped bring Florida State and Nugent into national prominence.

Following graduation in 1957, Nugent retained his brilliant quarterback as an assistant and brought him to Maryland. This season Corso will work with the offensive backs, specializing with the quarterbacks. Along with his varsity coaching duties, the popular young assistant led the Terp freshmen to an undefeated season in 1961.

A native of Miami, Fla., Corso had a brilliant high school career in football, baseball, and basketball. He was selected first team all-State in each sport his senior year. He won the honor in basketball also his junior year. He was named "Athletic-Scholar of the Year" his final term and was on the all-Southern all-American football team. Too, he was named to the Wigwam All-America team his senior year. He was a member of the National Honor Society.

Following graduation, he entered Florida State in the Fall of 1953. He won letters in football and baseball four years, with freshmen eligible to play then.

For his brilliant play, honors were many. He was on the all-State

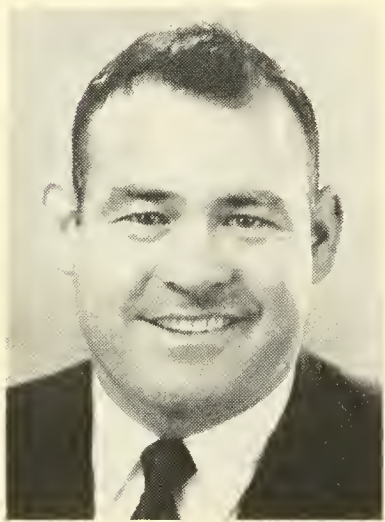

Florida colleges team his junior and senior years. He was named as all-America honorable mention his senior year, a most cherished honor inasmuch as Corso was the first Florida State football player to receive that high rating in the history of the school. He was voted the National Player of the Week by INS for his sterling performance in guiding the upset over N.C. State. He was voted the "Back of the Week" honors among Florida schools several times. His grid career was capped by his winning the Athlete of the Year award at Florida State. The 27-year-old Corso also played in the annual Blue-Gray game in Montgomery as quarterback. At FSU, he set the total rushing record; most pass interceptions one game, 3; pass-receiving record for one game, 8, and has the high mark for kickoff return average for a season, 35 yards.

On the diamond, Corso was an all-State and all-District 3 outfielder. With the Seminoles, he played in the District 3 playoffs two years. He hit .400 as a freshman.

Corso was voted a member of Omicron Delta Kappa (ODK), national men's honorary leadership fraternity and Phi Delta Kappa, national education honorary. He graduated in June '57 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Education.

Nugent appointed him assistant coach following graduation. He pursued his Master's Degree and received it in August 1958 in Education and Administration.

He married the former Betsy Youngblood, Tampa, Fla. They have two children, Steven Lee 5, and David 2.

BERNIE REID

One of the most popular and most successful high school coaches during a long tenure in the South, Reid accepted the call of Nugent to come to Maryland with him as assistant line coach.

Reid had great success at Albany, Ga., High School and established an outstanding reputation as one of the best in coaching. He had sent many star players on to the large colleges and universities in the South.

The 37-year-old Reid is a native of Hamilton, Ohio. He graduated from Hamilton High in 1942 where he was a three year star and a weight man on the track team.

Following his high school graduation, he entered the University of Cincinnati that Fall. He stayed long enough to play the freshman grid schedule, then enlisted in the Merchant Marine where he stayed 18 months.

Discharged in January of 1944, he entered the University of Georgia in the Spring semester. He played the Fall of '44 for Coach Wally Butts as a guard but the Army then called him into the service, in December. He served in Germany 22 months with the 78th Infantry. He was discharged in January of 1947.

He returned to Georgia and completed his studies and played his junior and senior seasons. He graduated in June of 1949. Reid was Captain of the team his senior year and was first team all-Southeastern Conference and was named to the all-Southern team. He was president of the varsity lettermen "G" Club and of the Student Athletic Council.

His teammates voted him the most valuable lineman trophy for his outstanding play his senior year.

Following graduation, he went to Fitzgerald High School, Ga., as line coach. He was there one year before moving on to the line coaching job at Albany High in 1950. In 1951, he was appointed head coach, and held that position until Nugent brought him to Maryland. At Albany, he compiled the enviable record of 57 wins, 20 losses, and three ties in a Triple-A league. His teams won the Region 1, AAA crown three years and was runner-up to the state championship in 1952. He was voted region Coach of the Year twice. He points with justified pride to the great number of his boys who have gone on to college and done exceptionally well.

Reid married the former Kathryn Herold of Hamilton. They have two daughters, Karolyn, 14, Paula, 11, and a son, Jeff, 2<sup>1</sup>/<sub>2</sub>.

ALF SATTERFIELD

One of the most familiar names in coaching circles, Satterfield joined Nugent's staff following a brilliant reputation as line coach at V.P.I. As the Gobblers built fine teams, much of the credit was given the team's outstanding line play under the guidance of Satterfield. He handles the same line coaching chores for the Terps.

The 41-year-old Satterfield came to Maryland after eight years at V.P.I. as their line coach and after helping develop their grid fortunes back to the winning ledger.

A native of Russellville, Ark., he attended that high school and graduated in 1940. There he was a three-sport star in football, basketball and baseball. He lettered all three years in each sport. A center in football, he was named to the all-State first team his senior year. He also was chosen to play in the first high school all-American game in Memphis, Tenn.

Following graduation, he entered Vanderbilt University and played tackle as a freshman and two varsity seasons prior to his entering the Army in February, 1943. While in the service, he served with the 90th Infantry Division in the European Theater of Operations. He was discharged in January of 1946.

He returned to Vanderbilt for the Spring term of '46. He was elected Captain of the team for his senior year. He won third team all-America honors and first team all-Southeastern Conference. He graduated in June of '47 with a Bachelor of Science in History.

Satterfield then went to the San Francisco 49'ers and played tackle for one year.

In 1948, he coached at Little Rock Catholic High School. The Fall of 1949 he got the call to be an assistant coach at Louisiana State and stayed two years. It was in the Spring of 1951 that he went to V.P.I. and stayed until the call to College Park in 1959.

He married the former Bobbie Sue Wright of Forest City, Ark. They have a daughter, Susan, age 11.

ROLAND ARRIGONI

Again this Fall, the big and all-important job of tutoring the scout team will be handled by Arrigoni.

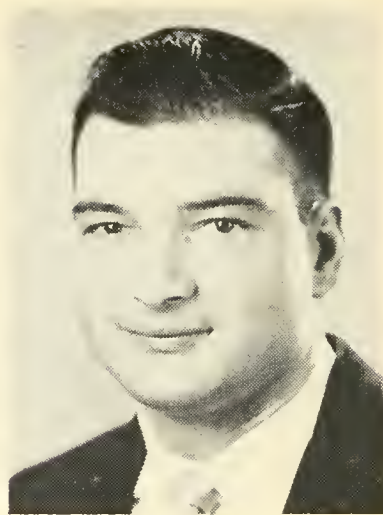

Nugent brought the 28-year-old New Mexico University graduate to College Park after he had served a year under him at Florida State.

Arrigoni is a native of Chicago, but moved to Albuquerque, New Mexico at a young age and received his early schooling there. He attended Albuquerque High School, graduating in June of 1951. There he lettered three years in football as a tackle and three years as a catcher in baseball.

He entered the University of New Mexico in the Fall of 1951. He graduated in 1956 with a Bachelor of Science Degree in Physical Education. While at New Mexico, he was a star tackle for three years and again lettered three years in baseball as a catcher. He was offered a chance to enter the New York Yankee farm system, but his service obligation prevented his signing a contract.

He was drafted into the service in August of 1956. He was assigned to Fort Bliss, Tex., and put in his two years of duty there. He played baseball for the base team and was an assistant football coach and scout for the Ft. Bliss grid teams.

Following his discharge he joined Nugent and his staff at Florida State where he was the 1958 freshman coach. Then came the move to Maryland with Nugent.

FRANK TOOMEY

When Tom Nugent came to Maryland, he also brought with him his top coach and strategist, Toomey, to continue his fine work with the backfield. The serious, hard-working Toomey, who works as a perfectionist with precision, is a most highly-regarded and respected backfield teacher.

Toomey attended his native Niagara Falls St. Mary's High School then went to Canisius Prep in Buffalo where he lettered three years in football, baseball, and basketball. Following graduation from Canisius, he enrolled at Ithaca College in 1941. Before going into the Marines in June of 1943, he played two years at Ithaca in all three sports. He was Captain of the football team, playing tailback, as a sophomore and was captain of the basketball team as a freshman. He was a center fielder in baseball.

His early Marine career sent him to Parris Island, Camp Lejeune, and in January 1944 he went to Officers School at Quantico, and received his commission. He was assigned to Maui, Hawaii as Company Commander, then led his unit in a first wave frontal assault at Iwo Jima in February of 1945. It was during this operation that he received the Purple Heart, a Presidential Citation, and the Navy Commendation.

He was returned to the States and assigned as Athletic Officer at Pensacola Naval Air Station. Here he helped coach the base football and basketball and baseball teams.

Following discharge, he returned to Ithaca in the Spring of 1946 to resume his studies and assist coaching the varsity football and baseball teams and coach of the freshman basketball and baseball teams. He graduated with a B.S. in Physical Education in June of 1947. He became backfield coach at Ithaca and freshman basketball and baseball coach. During this time, he was with the Utica baseball team, a Phillie farm. He received his Masters Degree in PE in June of 1948. He played pro baseball for a Niagara team in Canada. He has worked as a scout for the Phillies.

In the Fall of 1948 he went to Waverly, N.Y. High School as head football and baseball coach. His grid teams of six years had the fine record of 39 wins against eight losses. His team won the Southern Counties League Championship the last four years he coached.

He went to Florida State as Nugent's assistant in 1954 and has been with him since.

A high honor came to him in 1959 when he was elected into the Hall of Fame at Canisius Prep School.

He is married to the former Rita Sullivan and has a son, Michael, 11.

CARROLL HUNTRESS

This Fall, the hard-working Carroll Huntress, a University of New Hampshire graduate will assume the important task of coaching the Maryland Freshman.

He will continue as working secretary of the Terrapin Club and head of concessions.

Following graduation from New Hampshire, Huntress coached football, basketball and baseball at Mechanic Falls, Maine High School for a year and a half. He then went to Portland High where he coached football for ten years, six years as an assistant and four as Head Coach. He led the Portland team to the South West Maine Conference title in 1959 and was runner-up three years.

He attended High School at Thornton Academy in his hometown, Saco, Maine. Following graduation from Thornton he entered the Marine Corps in 1942 and was discharged in November of 1945. In February he entered the University of New Hampshire where he received his Bachelor of Science Degree in June of 1949, as a Biology major.

While at New Hampshire, Huntress was a three sport letter-man, playing Varsity Football and Lacrosse three years and running the hurdles and dash events on the track team as a sophomore.

He played both halfback and fullback while on the football squad and in his Senior year played in the Glass Bowl at Toledo, Ohio. He was a midfielder on the Lacrosse team and captained the squad in his Senior year.

The 39-year-old native of Saco married the former Betty Curran of Portland, Maine. They have three daughters, Judy, 15; Sharon, 11; and Pamela, 9.

ALFRED J. "Duke" WYRE

One of the most popular and considered by the training fraternity as one of its best, the Terps' "Duke" Wyre starts his 17th year as head trainer at Maryland.

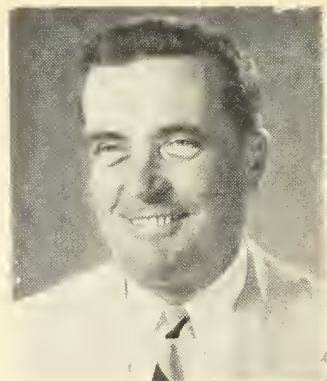

Duke came to Maryland in 1947 under the reorganization plan of the Athletic department and has added to his reputation as a leading authority in the all-important field of training athletic teams. He heads two of the best equipped and most modern training rooms in the country.

Many honors have come to "Duke" in his many years with the training association. The fitting climax came in 1960 when he was selected as one of the eight United States trainers for the Olympic games in Rome. Duke's primary assignment was to train the United States Olympic Crew, and happily the winning crew was that of the Terps' neighbors, Navy. His appointment was the culmination of his many years as a trainer.

In 1956, he was elected Chairman of the Board of Directors of the National Trainers' Association, a position he still holds.

He has authored many articles and manuals on training methods, and is always in demand to give lectures on athletic training methods at numerous clinics. He also has devised equipment pieces that are used for athletic injuries and prevention of injuries.

Wyre was trainer at Yale for 15 years before he moved to Holy Cross for another year. Then in '47 he came to Maryland and has been head trainer ever since.

INTERPRETING THE TERPS

Split Ends

Overall: This has been a relatively weak spot for the past two years. Much experimentation was carried on last year and, at season's end, Jerry Osler seemed to be the answer for 1963. But Osler became a classroom casualty and the situation remains variable. A definite question mark this Fall.

HOWARD HUMPHRIES, Soph., 22, 6-4, 200, Silver Spring, Md.—This youngster will do a lot of kicking for us and could become our No. 1 punter . . . a converted fullback.

JOHN KENNY, Soph., 20, 6-1, 195, Steubenville, Ohio—Red-shirted last year, but should play a lot of football in '63 . . . very good defensive man.

ANDY MARTIN, Soph., 21, 6-0, 195, Swarthmore, Pa. Should be our No. 1 end . . . an excellent receiver who runs well and fast . . . a good all-around offensive flankman.

*DAVE NARDO, Senior, 21, 6-0, 195, Bellaire, Ohio—The best blocker on the team . . . used as "wild-card" defensive end last year, but may be shifted to another position to capitalize on his blocking ability . . . an unusually hard worker with great "heart" . . . an honor student who also served as president of student council.

*ED ROG, Senior, 21, 6-0, 195, Binghamton, N.Y.—Utility end last year, mostly on offense . . . good receiver who will play a lot more this year . . . good speed . . .

Tackles

Overall: Greatly weakened by graduation. Prospects appear promising, but inexperience may hurt. Adequate size, with four over 220.

MATT ARBUTINA, (R-ba-TEEN-a), Soph., 21, 6-1, 220, Aliquippa, Pa.—A big, strong kid who was not in school last year . . . should play a lot, probably with the second unit. Very good defensively.

TOM CICHOWSKI, (Chi-KOW-ski), Soph., 19, 6-4, 230, Southington, Conn.—Was a fullback with last years frosh but converted to tackle because of his size and speed . . . could be the starting tackle.

*OLAF DROZDOV, (DROZ-doff), Junior, 20, 6-0, 210, Pennsville, N.J.—Probably the other starting tackle . . . a real fine two-way player . . . performed with "Gang Busters" last year . . . earned letter as guard with aggressive, rough play . . . could be our best lineman.

*JOE FRATTAROLI, (FRA-T-a-ROLL-i), Junior, 20, 6-2, 225, Stamford, Conn.—Earned letter as a reserve last year, could come into his own in '63 . . . was an all-state selection at Stamford High, which he helped lead to state championship with undefeated record.

*NORM HATFIELD, Senior, 21, 6-3, 225, Altoona, Pa.—A reserve his first two years, although played enough to win letter in '62 . . . a smart player and a top-notch competitor.

RICH SCHAEFER, Soph., 19, 6-1, 215, Williamstown, Pa.—Another converted fullback like Cichowski . . . if he adjusts, could play a lot.

JACK STRICKLAND, Soph., 19, 6-3, 195, Bethesda—A little light, but seems eager to play.

Guards

Overall: Situation much like the tackle spot. Lost the "rock" of the line when Walter Rock graduated. Inexperience may hamper this position, too, with all but two of eight candidates being sophs.

LARRY BAGRANOFF, (ba-GRA-noff), Soph., 19, 6-2, 215, Bethesda—Red-shirted last year, could play considerably this season . . . an excellent offensive blocker who can play either guard or tackle.

GAYTON CICCONE, (si-KONE), Soph., 21, 5-10, 210, Newark, N.J.—Lacks the previous experience of his classmates, but always gives his best.

*JOE FERRANTE, (fa-RAN-tee), Senior, 21, 6-0, 195, Portland, Maine—Good, two-way guard who undoubtedly will start . . . fast and diagnoses plays well . . . an excellent blocker, aggressive and a heads-up player.

*FRED JOYCE, Junior, 20, 5-11, 195, Cumberland—Came along fast as a soph. and was playing first-string at season's end . . . wound up Spring drills as the No. 1 LG.

DICK MELCHER, Soph., 20, 6-1, 205, Edgewater—One of identical twins whom even the coaches have difficulty telling apart . . . a very fine prospect who was playing on the second unit at end of Spring drills . . . will play a lot.

MICK MELCHER, Soph., 20, 6-1, 205, Edgewater—The other twin who was listed on the third unit in the Spring windup . . . was a fullback in high school, but could be playing beside his brother in the foreseeable future.

JON ROBERTS, Soph., 20, 5-10, 180, Upper Darby, Pa.—A bit small all around, but seems to have the desire.

Centers

Overall: Strongest position on the line. First three centers of last year all returning.

BOB CAESAR, Soph., 20, 6-1, 220, Hagerstown—A transfer from Florida State who sat out last season . . . missed half the Spring drills but has good potential . . . could break into the strong trio of returning vets.

*GENE FEHER, (Fair), Senior, 20, 6-1, 205, W. Aliquippa, Pa.—One of the co-captains . . . a real fine two-way player who definitely will contend for all-conference recognition . . . our defensive signal-caller . . . a real standout.

*ED GILMORE, Senior, 21, 5-11, 195, North Bergen, N.J.—Has been a good center for our third unit for two years . . . exceptionally good offensive man . . . affords fine insurance in this valuable spot.

JIM KEENAN, Soph., 19, 5-11, 195, Lester, Pa.—The frosh's No. 1 center last year . . . knee operation kept him out of Spring practice, but rated a fine prospect.

CHARLES KRAHLING, (KRA-ling), Soph., 19, 6-1, 210, Hyattsville—Had a fine Spring practice and showed marked improvement . . . because of his ability and the wealth of available centers could be shifted to another line position.

*RON LEWIS, Junior, 6-0, 195, Ridley Park—Was defensive quarterback last year with Gangbusters . . . a top linebacker and fine tackler . . . missed half of Spring workouts because of knee operation . . . tentatively rated our No. 2 center.

CHARLES MARTIN, Junior, 20, 5-11, 200, Philadelphia, Pa.—A hustlin', fill-in guy who finds himself behind three top-notch veterans . . . was used as guard on third unit late in Spring drills and could be found there this Fall.

Quarterbacks

Overall: Thanks to presence of all-America candidate Dick Shiner, the strongest spot on the team. Big question: what happens if Dick gets hurt? Jim Corcoran, one of most promising sophs. last year, lost out to classroom marks and Ray Woitkowski, another soph., signed a professional baseball contract.

HANK LILLY, Soph., 20, 6-0, 180, Washington, D.C.—Came out on his own last Spring, made quite an impression and wound up as the No. 2 signal-caller . . . an area boy who started with Gonzaga.

*DICK SHINER, Senior, 20, 6-0, 190, Lebanon, Pa.—Definitely Maryland's shining light. "Mr. Big" who set eight Maryland all-time passing records and tied two others last year as a junior . . . a definite all-America candidate, Dick wound up with the third best passing record in the Nation last year with 1,324 yards gained on 121 completions out of 203 attempts . . . four of his heaves went for TDS . . . he also scored six touchdowns to trail leading point-scorer, Tom Brown, by only 2 . . . scored the lone touchdown in the SMU game, tossed a TD pass to Brown in the 13-2 win over Wake Forest, swept left end for the decisive touchdown in the 14-6 conquest of N.C. State and threw two TD passes in the 31-13 rout of Carolina . . . in one of the big games of the year (at a time when both were undefeated) was shaded only slightly by Miami's George Mira who had to produce the best night of his career to come out on top . . . in 13-11 defeat of South Carolina, threw to Brown for one score and engineered the late drive which set up John Hannigan's winning field goal . . . ran 50 yards against Clemson for what appeared to be a touchdown only to have the play nullified by clipping . . . Naturally was all-Conference Quarterback.

Dick's two-year record:

	Total Plays	Net Gain	Passes	Passing Pct.	Yards Passing	TD Passes
1961	184	1022	58-111	.523	921	7
1962	292	1426	121-203	.596	1324	4
2-yr. Totals	476	2448	179-314	.570	2245	11

BRUCE SPRINGER, Soph., 19, 6-4, 195, Fanwood, N.J.—Was all-state end one year and all-state quarterback the next . . . great prospect . . . good passer, especially with the long throw . . . should develop into another real good one.

Upbacks

Overall: Relatively strong. Burton has been starter for two years.

JEFF BURKHARDT, Soph., 19, 6-3, 210, Florence, N.J.—Good potential . . . looks good, although has a long way to go . . . good size and a good receiver . . . quite a kicker, also, and will share that duty with Humphries.

*BOB BURTON, Senior, 21, 6-1, 205, Newark, Delaware—An excellent all-around player . . . has played every backfield position except quarterback . . . good linebacker . . . probably the most unpublicized player on the squad but coaches say his performance rates all-conference consideration.

STEVE GLASER, Senior, 20, 6-0, 195, Washington, D.C.—Has been an end and back and should come into his own his final season . . . has good hands and speed but minor injuries have hampered him . . . currently rated third-unit material.

GEORGE STEM, Soph., 19, 5-8, 185, Westminster—Came here on his own and became starting upback on last year's frosh . . . now regarded as a fine prospect . . . could play right behind Burton.

CHET WOLFORD, Soph., 19, 6-0, 195, Tyrone, Pa.—All-County, Big 33 selection as high school senior . . . good blocker, excellent tackle and hard-nosed runner.

Swingbacks

Overall: Our best backfield position. Three-deep with standouts on each unit.

RONNIE ADAMS, Junior, 20, 5-10, 175, Irvington, N.J.—A reserve last year, but a great prospect who is going to play a lot . . . good runner and ideal physique.

*ERNIE ARIZZI, (a-RIZ-ee), Senior, 21, 6-0, 185, Barrington, N.J.—This will be Ernie's third year as a starter in this position . . . led team in ground-gaining as a soph. and was third last year . . . a good, solid player who probably is our most consistent back . . . quiet and another one of those unsung but extremely valuable men . . . second to Tom Brown as top receiver last year with 26 caught for 247 yards.

TONY CERRA, Soph., 18, 5-11, 185, Farrell, Pa.—Has a lot of potential but needs experience . . . faces strong competition in desire to play regularly.

*LEN CHIAVERINI, (shiv-a-REE-nee), Junior, 20, 5-11, 185, Ambridge, Pa.—Overlooked so completely as "just another soph." that he wasn't even thumbnailed in last year's brochure, this youngster sprang a real surprise by winding up as the Conference's leading ground-gainer (602 yds. in 156 attempts—3.9 yd. avg.) . . . a real good, hard-nosed kid who gives 100 percent effort at all times . . . undoubtedly will share the brunt of this position with Arizzi . . . an all-state scholastic back.

Tailbacks

Overall: Inexperienced here. All of last year's starters gone, but potential looks good.

*LOU BURY, Junior, 21, 6-2, 210, Baltimore, Md.—Played four positions last year—end, linebacker, fullback, tackle . . . a good, strong, solid kid . . . possibly could be shifted to line, although currently rated No. 1 back in this position.

JERRY FISHMAN, Junior, 20, 6-1, 220, E. Norwalk, Conn.—Severe charley-horse last year kept him out of action, but was voted the outstanding player in the Spring game . . . could solve a lot of problems by coming through in this spot . . . big, strong and overpowering . . . gained over 600 yards as a freshman.

JIM GIRARDI, Senior, 21, 5-10, 190, Williamsport, Pa.—A good running back IF he stays healthy . . . injuries have handicapped him throughout college career.

Wingbacks

Overall: Could be a strong position, depending upon recovery of the two Mikes, Funk and Simpson, from injuries. Hill, Navy transfer, looked to for great year.

BILL DORN, Junior, 21, 5-11, 180, Mt. Holly, N.J.—Out for football on his own but did a pretty good job last year when regulars were incapacitated . . . gave evidence of developing into surprise . . . How much he plays depends upon availability of top three.

*MIKE FUNK, Junior, 19, 6-0, 190, Harrisburg, Pa.—Started opening game last year and caught a lot of passes . . . then hurt in following game and didn't return to lineup until late in season when he played behind Osler . . . reinjured knee in Spring and was operated on . . . runs, catches well . . . a good offensive man . . . wound up as third leading receiver, behind Brown and Arizzi.

DARRYL HILL, Junior, 20, 6-0, 165, Kenilworth—A real "jack-rabbit", Bobby Mitchell-type player who will see at lot of action . . . had a very good Spring . . . is quick, agile and has excellent hands . . . an excellent safety-man who will give the fans a lot of thrills.

GARY MILLER, Soph., 19, 6-1, 185, Hyattsville—An area boy who looked pretty good in Spring drills . . . has a lot to learn but is a good student.

*MIKE SIMPSON, Junior, 22, 5-9, 165, Portland, Maine—Injuries received in automobile accident kept him out of Spring workouts . . . an offensive man who can really fly . . . has good hands . . . a real break-away runner.

THE OUTLOOK IN '63

That clean-cut towhead with the artfully-cocked right arm on the opposite page could be aiming for two targets as the 1963 campaign gets underway. Knowing Dick Shiner for the modest, unassuming kid he is, we know that his first objective is another winning season for his Maryland Terrapins. But to those who regard him as a fine all-around passing quarterback, the Maryland co-captain could be aiming for a personal goal — All-American.

Shiner's two-year record is detailed elsewhere in this brochure (See his sketch under "Interpreting the Terps"). Probably his greatest distinction lies in the fact that, with only two seasons behind him, the all-Atlantic Coast Conference quarterback of 1962 already has broken three career records of two former top Terps — all-America Jack Scarbath of the 1950-'52 era and Dale Betty, who came along eight years later. How greatly he overshadows these earlier luminaries is seen by the contrasting figures:

In two years Shiner has:

- Attempted 314 passes (Scarbath's record was 269 in three)
- Completed 179 (Betty's mark was 127)
- Has gained 2,245 yards passing (Scarbath's yardage was 2,187)

Season-wise, Maryland's quarterback in Shiner armor established four new marks last Fall:

- Attempted 203 passes (Betty's record was 132)
- Completed 121 passes (Betty completed 82)
- Gained 1,324 yards passing (Scarbath's mark was 1,049)
- Had a total yardage of 1,416 (Scarbath's was 1,286)

So far, Shiner holds only one game record: his 272 total yardage against SMU last year eclipsed Scarbath's mark by 21. However, the 238 yards he gained passing against the Mustangs were only five yards less than Scarbath's record yardage against Navy in 1951.

However, Shiner equalled the all-time marks of six former Maryland passers (three touchdowns in one game) in a great individual effort in 1961 when he led his team to its first — and only — victory over Penn State in a pulsating 21-17 victory at College Park.

For all of Shiner's all-America potential, it would be amiss to consider Maryland a "one-man team" . . . what with such ball-carriers as Len Chiaverini and Ernie Arrizzi returning and wingbacks like Mike Funk and Darryl Hill itching to break away.

Obviously, much of Shiner's — and Maryland's — success will depend on the important guys "up front" and there's the big question-mark of the 1963 Terp eleven. You just don't lose players like Roger Shoals, Walter Rock and Dave Crossan without showing it and although their replacements are promising they are, with exception of the centers, inexperienced. The split-end position is variable, much as it has been the past two years, and the guards and tackles are young, though big.

At center, it's a different story with Co-captain Gene Feher, an all-conference probability, leading a trio of veterans. Ed Gilmore, another senior, and Ron Lewis, a junior, are the other experienced hands back. Lewis, an excellent line-backer, served as defensive quarterback last year.

Fans may do a slight "take" when they read Maryland's lineup this Fall for only one end will be listed while there will be five backs. The ingenious Tom Nugent, starting his fifth year as head coach at College Park, will play a wingback as right end and still have four men in the backfield. Incidentally, there will be no right or left halfbacks or fullback on Maryland's team, Nugent designating those positions as upbacks, swingback and tailback.

There won't be any "breathers" in which new men can be tested at the outset of the season. Improved conference teams at N.C. State and South Carolina provide the opposition in the first two games before defending champion Duke is met in the Tobacco Bowl at Richmond October 5. Then follow tilts with North Carolina, Air Force and Wake Forest before that perennial power, Penn State, invades Byrd Stadium the first Saturday in November. A game with Navy at Annapolis on November 9 looms as one of the most brilliant individual passing duels of the season with the Middies' Roger Stauback flinging 'em against Shiner. Nugent takes his squad to Clemson on November 16 to meet his old "pal" Frank Howard and the Terps return home to wind up the season against Virginia November 23.

The Wolfpacks' 1963 Outlook

By Frank Weedon

North Carolina State will open the 1963 football season with the most experienced squad Earle Edwards has had in several seasons.

The Wolfpack will be two-deep at all positions in the alignment of the 21 lettermen, except right guard where only Bill Sullivan is a monogram winner.

The Pack did not graduate a halfback and lost only one fullback and a quarterback in the backfield. Guards Skip Matthews and Harry Puckett were the only first unit line losses, although six of the eight lettermen who were graduated were linemen.

"If we can eliminate some of last year's mistakes (four of the losses were by a touchdown or less), there is reason to think that we could have a good football team in 1963," said Edwards.

"We didn't have to do too much experimenting in the Spring drills and we were able to place our men early. That was unlike a year ago when we spent a great deal of time trying to find out where to play some of our boys. This should be of help to us in the Fall," Edwards notes.

The end and tackle positions will have good size and speed to go along with experience. Don Montgomery, first team all-Atlantic Coast Conference last year, heads the end corps of Ray Barlow, Bob Faircloth and Bill Hall. All are lettermen. Top sophomore at this position is Tony Golmont, a speedy youth with good hands. The Wolfpack could have the best starting tackle duo in the ACC with two-time letter-winners Chuck Wachtel and Bert Wilder back. Both are rangy with excellent speed for linemen. Juniors Steve Parker and Glenn Sasser back them up after letter-winning seasons in 1962. Dave Ellis, an outstanding prospect, is the sophomore to watch at tackle.

Guard could be a trouble-spot if non-lettered veterans do not come through as expected, while center will remain a question mark until it is found out if injuries to two of the top three men will curtail their play in the Fall.

Left guard will have two junior lettermen in Silas Snow and Bennett Williams, but on the right side only Bill Sullivan has played much. Jack Schafer, Pat Powell and Roy Wood are all non-lettermen seniors and back up Sullivan, a second-team all-ACC selection in 1962.

Junior Lou DeAngelis is a hard-hitting linebacker who will play a lot on defense, while senior Oscar Overcash figures to be the top offensive man at center. Overcash is recovering from a broken arm, while number three man at center, Jerry Krecicki, missed last season with a leg injury.

The first unit backfield played together on the Wolfpack's undefeated 1960 freshman team. They are Jim Rossi at quarterback, Joe Scarpati and Tony Koszarsky at the halfbacks, and Pete Falzarano at fullback. Rossi, as a junior last year, became the fourth Wolfpack player to account for over 1,000 yards rushing and passing; Scarpati led the team in four departments, while Koszarsky gained the most yards rushing in 1962. Falzarano averaged 3.7 yards as the power man of the backfield.

Dave Houtz, one of the nations finest punters and a tough defensive man has played a lot the past two years, is the number two fullback.

The Gamecocks' 1963 Outlook

By Tom Price

South Carolina's hopes for improvement on last year's 4-5-1 record, which saw three games lost and one tied in the final two minutes of play, rest on the broad shoulders of 19-year-old Dan Reeves, who gained more yardage than any sophomore in Atlantic Coast Conference history as the nation's youngest quarterback in 1962.

Deacon Dan, who didn't observe his 19th birthday until Jan. 19, 1963, piled up 1,401 yards total offense as an 18-year-old, getting 471 rushing and 930 on 66 pass completions in 131 attempts. He had only five intercepted and threw seven touchdown passes. He also scored eight touchdowns himself and one two point conversion to tie with teammate Billy Gambrell and Duke's Mike Curtis for the ACC scoring championship with 50 points.

Needless to say, great things are expected of the 6-2, 195 pound Andersonville, Ga., native this Fall. A second team All-ACC selection as a sophomore, Deacon Dan will make a serious bid for All-America consideration this Fall.

Coach Marvin Bass has three other rising junior backs who played well as sophomores to go with Reeves. They include 6-2, 218 pound Pete DiVenere who took over the first string fullback job in the seventh game last season when senior Dick Day went down with a knee injury. Big Pete wound up with 265 yards rushing for less than half a season of front line duty and also showed considerable talent as a defensive linebacker.

The other junior backs expected to star in 1963 are halfbacks Larry Gill and Marty Rosen, both about six feet and 195 pounds. Gill gained 76 yards with the Gamecocks' second unit in 1962, caught eight passes and led the team in punt returns. Rosen, also operating with the second team, rushed for 105 yards and caught three passes.

Rising senior Sammy Anderson, the starting slot, or right halfback, in 1962, scored three touchdowns, caught 14 passes and rushed for 176 yards.

The best backs up from the freshman team are 185 pound Jeff Jowers, a speedster from Bamberg, S.C., David Truby, 185, defensive ace from Atlanta, Ga., and 205 pound Ronnie Lamb of McCormick, S.C.

The Gamecocks lost 17 lettermen, including 12 linemen and six of last year's forward wall starters. The biggest loss was left halfback Billy Gambrell, the Atlantic Coast Conference Player of the Year who made one first, one second and three third team All-America lists.

Despite the loss of Gambrell, who signed with the St. Louis Cardinals of the NFL, and linebacking specialist Ed Holler, who signed with Green Bay, Bass' biggest problem in Spring practice was not in finding back-field replacements but in shoring up the gaps left in the line by graduation.

The Gamecocks lost three lettermen each at end, tackle, guard and center, led by All ACC Jim Moss, signed by St. Louis and the other starting tackle, Joel Goodrich, who signed with the Dallas NFL club.

Rising senior Tom Gibson, 6-4, 236, the only line starter returning, and rising junior Steve ('Lil' Abner) Cox, 6-4, 240, top the list of returning linemen. Gibson, a tackle as a sophomore, started all 10 games last Fall at right guard and will serve with halfback Anderson as co-captains. Cox showed potential greatness at times as a sophomore playing behind Goodrich.

Despite the graduation losses, Bass is optimistic, noting that 20 lettermen return along with some good boys up from the frosh and several key "Redshirts".

The Blue Devils' 1963 Outlook

By Glenn E. (Ted) Mann

The Blue Devils of 1963 will be "young but willing and eager."

Gone are most of those great stars who in their three years on the varsity brought Duke three consecutive Atlantic Coast Conference championships.

One thing is certain: More sophomores will play for Duke this Fall than has been the case in the memory of long-time Duke fans.

But there are some fine veterans returning and some of the newcomers are likely-looking indeed.

Heading that list of veterans are fullback Mike Curtis, nothing short of a sensation as a sophomore last season and certainly one of the great all-around fullbacks in the land; Chuck Walker, a big and husky tackle who appears destined to take his place among the greats in that position that Duke has produced through the years; halfbacks Billy Futrell and Jay Wilkinson, both nifty runners, great receivers and two-way players; and Stan Crisson, a great pass receiving end.

There are problems galore, in fact, at every position on the team other than at fullback and left halfback. Players must be found for all the other positions and, in addition to that, a new punter and a new field goal-extra point-kickoff man must be discovered.

Head Coach Bill Murray is "wary" about the outlook but his assistants are confident that the boys will do the job and now let's hear what "Smilin' Bill" himself has to say:

"As has been said many times before, the intangibles have more to do with the success of a football team than physical qualifications.

"On our squad for 1963 will be the greenest group of players since war days. Experience is lacking in every place except fullback and left halfback where the starters return.

"At the moment, it appears that our degree of success will depend upon the development of inexperienced linemen and the progress of untried quarterbacks.

"All football coaches are optimistic at heart and we have high hopes that our spiritual qualities will carry us to a successful season."

The Tar Heels' 1963 Outlook

By Bob Quincy

The return of 29 lettermen, which offers the most experience in a decade, plus the bonus of three offensive stars of the previous campaign bring about an optimistic outlook in North Carolina's football camp.

"We played last season with a host of sophomores in key positions," says Coach Jim Hickey. "That's a real problem in a good football league and we took our lumps. We made more than our share of mistakes. Now those rookies are veterans. It hindered us last Fall, but now we are looking for the payoff."

Carolina's first two teams will be manned by lettermen. There are some good sophomores available, but they must find their sea legs. Never before in Hickey's reign (beginning in 1959) have so many qualified men answered roll call.

The offensive punch is a three-way deal with Quarterback Junior Edge, End Bob Lacey and Fullback Ken Willard stepping up for more yardage. Edge, who had been a defensive specialist his first year, came on fast as a junior and ranked eighth in the nation as a passer. Lacey, his 6-3, 210-pound target, caught 44 passes and placed seventh nationally.

Willard, a Richmond, Va., bull who scales 220, was a sensation in his first varsity duty. He led the club with a four-yard average per carry and against South Carolina displayed his remarkable speed with a kick-off runback for a touchdown.

"We fell short in yardage from the halfback position last season," admits Hickey, "and we hope to improve there. Ron Tuthill, a rising junior, was exceptional in Spring drills. Then we have Ronnie Jackson, Jimmy Eason and several others behind him to offer keen competition."

Jackson, who competes in track during the Spring, has run the 100-yard dash in 9.6. He was used in spot situations last season and among his laurels was a top listing for kickoff returns on a national basis. Jackson weighs only 160 but is a tough little scooter.

Prime trouble spot for the Tar Heels was listed at center, where the top two players graduated. However, the coaching staff shifted former defensive end Chris Hanburger to the pivot and he caught on quickly. The 195-pound Hanburger and Glenn Ogburn, used sparingly in 1962, now make center respectable.

Strongest position will probably be at end, where Lacey performs with All-America credentials. John Hammett, Joe Robinson and Frank Galager are sound flankmen.

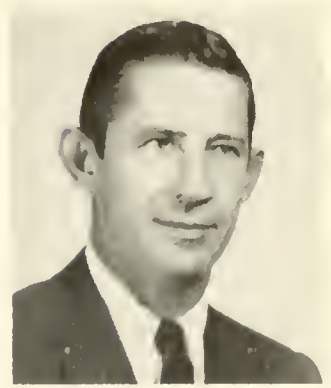

Two of the guard crop, Jim Alderman and Loren Wells, were tackles last season. They are fast, good two-way players but lacked the size for their neighboring position. Behind them are Jerry Cabe, Clint Eudy, Richard Zarro and others.

Vic Esposito makes tough plays seem easy at tackle. He is being pushed by 235-pound John Hill, a slightly larger athlete. At the other side, Cole Kortner, 238, and Co-captain Gene Sigmon battle for starting nods.

The schedule is rough — Georgia, Miami and Michigan State, plus seven ACC foes. The overall Carolina picture seems good, however. The team has better than average size, more depth than normal, a dazzling passing attack and strong running. Coach Hickey is determined to improve statistics over last year.

The Falcons' 1963 Outlook

(Coach Ben Martin's Evaluation)

Looking at our team on the surface, I would have to say that we will be an improved team in 1963. We lost very few key players via graduation and there are several boys coming up from the frosh team of last year who have demonstrated considerable potential as varsity football players. Our biggest problem in Spring practice resulted in the change of the substitution rules for this Fall which prevents us from using our three-unit system which was so effective last year. The staff has been faced with the task of teaching the "other half" of the game to the majority of our lettermen who played only on offense or defense a year ago. However, I think that the majority of these players have become adequate two-way performers through a concentrated effort to teach fundamentals this Spring. A quick look at the depth chart tells us that many of the younger players haven't progressed as rapidly as we would have liked, and the result is there are very few sophomores who will be called upon for duty with our first two units. However, more of them may come rapidly in the Fall and cause a scramble for positions on our first two teams which will see the majority of the action this Fall. We were hardest hit by graduation at end and guard. We will almost have to rebuild our entire end corps, but fortunately, some of our best soph prospects should fit right in to solve the problem here. We are also lacking for experienced guards, but a couple of position switches this Spring has eased that situation. We will be about the same in the size and speed departments as last year, but with 27 returning lettermen we will definitely be more experienced than ever before. We plan to use two teams of two-way players this Fall with two defensive specialists relieving our fullback and quarterback when we give up the ball. This team is an eager one and I'm sure they will give a good account of themselves this Fall, even though we are facing a most arduous schedule.

The Deacons' 1963 Outlook

By Marvin "Skeeter" Francis

Billy Hildebrand, entering upon his fourth season as coach of the Demon Deacons, realizes he and his staff have their work cut out for them in 1963, but figures things are a little brighter than they were at the outset a year ago.

This year's team is still a question mark in many respects. As was the case last season there are no great stars. Again there is a lack of adequate depth and experience at several key positions.

"Although we are no better off in numbers than we were last year, we feel we have better balance," Hildebrand says. "Our squad will number about 56 boys with only seven seniors, 14 juniors and the rest sophomores."

Only 16 lettermen, six backs and 10 linemen, are returning. Included are three quarterbacks, two fullbacks, one halfback, four ends, two tackles, three guards and one center. Five of the lettermen were starters in the final game last Fall while six others were members of the second unit.

The tentative first team at the close of Spring practice had lettermen at all positions except left tackle, center and right half. The second unit had seven letter-wearers listed.

The shortage of established linemen is most glaring at the tackles where the first five from last season are missing. William Faircloth and James Mayo, both of whom lettered as guards last season, were moved to tackle in the Spring. Faircloth will be the starter on the right side. Bill Reeder, who played a total of 11 minutes in six games last Fall, should be the starting left tackle. Leland Cox and Werner Hauer are the best of the sophomore crop.

Strength at guard will depend a great deal on Farrell Egge, who was injured in the third game last Fall and remained out the rest of the season after undergoing knee surgery. Egge passed up most of the contact work in the Spring, but is being counted on to fill a starting job. Paul Shearer and Ron Kadon are the other lettermen. Frank Russell and Jeff Underwood are the top sophs.

Jim Beaudoin, held out of varsity action last year, was one of the stars in Spring practice, and is listed as the starting center ahead of Bill Hopkins, who saw 320 minutes of action at center and guard last year. Lewis Duncan, a soph, will be the No. 3 man.

With four lettermen returning the end position appears better than it was last year. Rich Cameron and Wilbert Faircloth are listed as the starters with Jim Tejeck and John Grimes handling the second unit. Joe Berra and Bill Bazler are rated better than average soph candidates.

Hildebrand rates the overall backfield strength stronger than a year ago despite the presence of only one veteran — Wayne Welborn — at halfback. Jimmy Bedgood, hurt in the opener against Army and sidelined the rest of the season, had a good Spring and will pair with Welborn at the starting halfback slots. Joe Carazo, Mike Kelly, Don Davis and Sammy Decker are the newcomers who will complete the picture.

With three experienced performers in Wally Bridwell, Ralph Brandewiede and John Mackovic, the quarterback post should be considerably better. There is also the possibility this position will be strengthened by a couple of junior college transfers. Bridwell, rated the best defensive back, had a good Spring and is listed as the starter.

Fullback has two top-notch performers in Brian Piccolo and Larry Thomason. Piccolo, the star of the Spring game, was last year's top rusher with a 4.2 average on 77 carries while Thomason averaged 4.0 yards on 41 tries.

The Nittany Lions' 1963 Outlook

By Jim Tarman

Coach Rip Engle approached 1963 with as much concern as in any of his past 13 campaigns at Penn State and with more than in any of the last five seasons. He has ample cause for anxiety. Gone are the super-stars and many of their teammates who helped bring national ranking, two straight Eastern championships and three consecutive bowl bids.

Spring practice was used chiefly for getting a line on newcomers who must move into key positions (especially on the second line and backfield) and to experiment with position changes. Engle and his staff found ample time to concentrate on newcomers because many veterans who figure prominently in the planning for '63 — quarterback Pete Liske, tackles Harrison Rosdahl and Terry Monaghan, guard Bernie Sabol, center Jim Williams, end Dick Anderson, backs Junior Powell and Chris Weber — were absent, either excused by the coaches or participating in other sports.

This Spring Engle switched Bud Yost from end, where he lettered last Fall behind Anderson, to fullback and he and varsity holdover Tom Urbankik and newcomer Bill Huber combined to make fullback one of the strong Spring positions. Urbankik was voted the most improved player of Spring practice, although Ed Stuckrath, who lettered last Fall as a defensive starter and third-string offensive fullback must rank as the No. 1 FB for this Fall.

Penn State teams are traditionally strong at quarterback and barring injuries, 1963 will be no exception. Liske, who set single season school records for total offense and passing yardage, still is the man to beat for the starting assignment and behind him are lettermen Don Caum, Ron Coates and Gary Wydman. Wydman and Caum are fine runners and the latter is a standout defender. Liske and Coates are the better passers. Varsity holdovers Frank Potter, an effective runner, and Ed Kmit, a defensive specialist, complete the backfield corps.

Offensively, the Lions possibly will be a bit weaker than last year. The passing should be somewhat better with ends Anderson and Bowes and halfbacks Powell, Hershey and Klingensmith excellent receivers, but the halfback running game won't be as strong. Defensively, State will probably be on a par or hopefully a little stronger than in '62. There is adequate size and the pass defense will be better. Against rushing, no one approaches the departed Dave Robinson, but the rest of the first team line is probably as good and the second line needs only experience. The linebacking as a whole matches last year with Ralph Baker a standout.

With probably the toughest schedule in history, the 1963 season presents a real challenge if Penn State is to achieve its 25th consecutive winning season. Much depends on how quickly sophomores and relatively untested players can develop in the face of the schedule. Thus, the early part of the season is extremely important. If these youngsters can keep their confidence, shake off mistakes certain to come from inexperience and at least stay close in each game and perhaps pull an upset or two — in short, not become demoralized by adversity — they should begin to move by mid-season. This squad has much potential. It is physically sound and strong, has high morale and enthusiasm and many performers eager and willing. It'll be interesting to learn whether a solid sound spirited squad with many youngsters can succeed without benefit of the super-stars who have graced State's lineup in recent seasons.

The Midshipmen's 1963 Outlook

By L. Budd Thalman

The return of Roger Staubach, the brilliant sophomore quarterback of last season, buoys Navy's football hopes for 1963.

Staubach came within 117 yards of breaking the Naval Academy record for total offense last year and finished the campaign as the leading percentage passer in the nation. Roger attempted 98 passes, completed 67 for 966 yards and seven touchdowns. A clever runner, he carried 85 times for 265 yards and seven more tallies.

While Staubach certainly is the key to Navy's attack, Coach Wayne Hardin has one of the best backfield combinations in his five-year tenure in Annapolis.

Fullback Pat Donnelly could be the best ever to play at Navy. The leading ground-gainer as a sophomore last year, Donnelly has better-than-average speed and runs with considerable power. At left halfback, a pair of sprint men — John Sai and Kip Paskewich — give the Midshipmen fine speed. Sai was slowed by illness last season after leading the team in rushing as a sophomore. Paskewich earned Hardin's praise as the team's "most improved player" during Spring practice.

Halfback Dick Earnest heads a cast of talented flanker backs. Earnest returns from the '62 starting eleven. Two other lettermen — Bob Teall and Steve Moore — and a newcomer, Junior Ed Orr, will be ready to see service behind Earnest. The team's number one pass receiver, Halfback Jim Stewart, has graduated.

The key problem area for the Midshipmen appears to be the interior line. Nine of the 12 lettermen who graduated were interior linemen. A number of personnel switches were made during Spring drills to try and bolster this trouble spot.

The most significant move was the conversion of Dick Merritt, a junior varsity fullback last year after lettering in '61, to a tackle. Merritt responded so well that he was on the first team at the end of the Spring. He's a rugged 235-pounder. In another move, Al Krekich was switched from right to left guard and middle guard on defense to make room for Fred Marlin, who played primarily with the defensive unit in '62. Marlin, the leading individual tackler last season, will back the line with Center Tom Lynch, the 1963 team captain.

Coach Hardin feels that Jim Freeman, a rugged 210-pound Texan, is Navy's top lineman and perhaps among the best in the East. A tackle, Freeman saw action with Navy's two-way and defensive units last season. He is quick, aggressive and likes to hit people. Lynch, who has played mostly defense for two seasons, showed marked improvement on offense during the Spring and will also bid for outstanding lineman laurels.

The end corps is solid with two lettermen — Jim Campbell and Dave Sjuggerud — returning to the starting slots. Sjuggerud led the ends in pass receptions last year with 13 while Campbell latched on to seven aeriels. The return of Gary Kellner, who sat out a season to concentrate on his studies after winning a letter in '61, gives Navy added depth at end.

Another slight question mark is the kicking game. Joe Ince is definitely set as the Navy punter. He averaged 36.5 yards on 51 kicks during '62. The conversion and field goal work will probably be split between Sjuggerud and Marlin. Navy was spotty in these departments last year, missing eight of 22 extra point attempts and two field goal tries.

The new substitution rule will prevent the Midshipmen from employing the three-unit system they have used the past two seasons. Coach Hardin plans two units that will go both ways. The Navy coach also intends some refinements on offense and defense that will make the Midshipmen's attack even more wide open.

The Tigers' 1963 Outlook

By Bob Bradley

Coach Frank Howard, now moulding his 24th Clemson team, has a lot of experience returning for the 1963 campaign, but there are some troubled spots that need to be reinforced to adequately prepare for two such opening powers as Oklahoma and Georgia Tech.

End, guard, halfback and fullback appear to be the best fortified. Fullback has been injury-prone, both last season and during Spring practice, but the material is there. End has four lettermen returning, guard four and halfback five. There are two big bruising fullbacks, plus sparkling sophomore Bob Swift.

Despite the outstanding signal calling returning for some teams in the conference, Clemson probably owns the best of the lot in Jim Parker. He has all the credentials in running, passing and playing defense. A junior, Jimmy Bell, is expected to back Parker although Bell missed nearly all of Spring practice due to a broken hand. Sophomore Jim Ruffner, who led the freshmen to a 4-1 season in '62, could move into the No. 2 slot.

Howard's biggest problem appears to be at tackle where he lost three men (Don Chuy, Dave Hynes and Karl Engel). Jack Aaron was switched from guard to tackle in off-season and will probably team with Johnny Boyette as the starting tackles. Behind those, sophomores will probably fill the gap although there are three other lettermen tackles on the squad.

Ted Bunton, a starter at center a year ago as a sophomore, returns but needs help from sophomores Joe Waldrep or Bill Hecht.

Two juniors — Hal Davis and George Sutton — could be the two starting halfbacks but don't sell short lettermen Mack Matthews, Billy Ward or Jimmy Howard or sophomores Ellis Dantzler, Hugh Mauldin and Denny Patrick. Sutton and Howard both lettered as fullbacks in 1962.

Experience is in abundance at guard with four lettermen seniors. Billy Weaver and Tracy Childers are the expected starters with Walter Cox and Clark Gaston a shade behind. End has Johnny Case and Lou Fogle as probable first "11" men with Bob Poole and Dave Brown backing, and Bill Sharpe and Stu Caplan the most promising sophomores.

If Howard had to name a starting lineup today, it would probably be this: LE—Lou Fogle, LT—Johnny Boyette, LG—Tracy Childers, C—Ted Bunton, RG—Billy Weaver, RT—Jack Aaron, RE—Johnny Case, QB—Jim Parker, LHB—Hal Davis, RHB—George Sutton, FB—Pat Crain. Weaver, Childers, Aaron, Case, Fogle and Parker are seniors, Bunton, Boyette, Sutton, Davis and Crain are juniors.

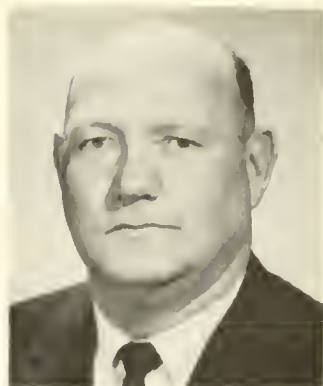

There's a good chance — although Clemson's toughest schedule lies just ahead — that the Tigers will better their 6-4 record of a year ago.

The Cavaliers' 1963 Outlook

By Dick Turner

Bill Elias approaches his third season at the University of Virginia with fewer lettermen than he had in '61 and '62 but junior non-lettermen and sophomores are present in good depth and have some notable replacement strength.

The 13 senior lettermen of the '62 season included the first (Gary Cuozzo) and second (Carl Kuhn) quarterbacks, two other first unit backs, and four game-starting linemen. There are 17 returning lettermen, most of whom will be fixtures in the first and second units.

The leading new quarterbacks are Tom Hodges (190) a junior who missed the '62 season because of an injury after a starring freshman year; Pat McSweeney (185), who made several brief game appearances during a non-lettering sophomore season last year, and Bob Dunphey (198), freshman team quarterback last year.

Terry Sieg (187), whose 5.0 average was the best for individual rushing last year, is the carryover first unit halfback. Four other returning lettermen halfbacks are John Hepler (175), Henry Massie (178), John Greene (177) and Gene Angle (175), but early indications were that Tom Krebs (178) sophomore may fill the first unit vacancy at left halfback. Roger Davis (175) and John Pincavage (175) are ready sophomores.

At fullback, from the start it is likely to be Bob Prusmack, 208-pound sophomore from Old Westbury, N.Y., by way of Peddie School. The lettermen at fullback are Edwin Barker, 185-pound senior, and Dallas Gwynn, 185-pound junior.

Lettermen returning to the ends with excellent first unit prospects are Myron McWilliams (195) and Stuart Christhlf (210), both seniors with game-starting backgrounds. Ted Torok, 228-pound junior who lettered at tackle last year, and Pat Vaughan, 210-pound non-letterman junior, are second unit prospects, and Larry Molinari (200) may be heard from as sophomores.

Dick Myers, 235-pound regular as a sophomore last year, and Bob Kowalkowski, 210-pound '63 sophomore, are the prospective first unit tackles. In the depth will be Bill Mason, 215-pound senior letterman; Rodney Hough, 218-pound sophomore, and Pat McFalls (220) and Chips Longley (215), members of the '62 varsity squad.

Three lettermen, Duane Bickers (200), Bruce Perry (210) and Leonard Hrica (205), and sophomore Don Parker (260), form a strong guard foursome. Bill Marko (197), letter-winner two years ago, and Dave Call (200), with some '62 game experience, will also be back.

Turnley Todd (215), outstanding two-year guard and linebacker, has been moved in a step to center. He will be supported by Jim Donley (190) and Douglas Wood (195), both ranked high as sophomores.
